The Tale of the Bee and the Sea

Once upon a time, there was a bee named Buzz. Buzz loved to fly near the sea. One sunny day, Buzz met a crab named Claw on the beach.

"Hello, Buzz!" said Claw. "Do you want to play near the sea?" Buzz was so happy. "Yes, I would love to!

But I can't see very well today," said Buzz, pointing to his eyes.

Claw laughed. "You mean you can't see very well." Buzz giggled. "Yes, that's what I mean! Let's play a game of hide and seek." Claw agreed. "I will hide first. You count to ten." Buzz closed his eyes and began to count. "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten! Ready or not, here I come!"

Buzz flew around the beach, looking for Claw. He saw a rock, but Claw was not there. He saw a shell, but Claw was not there either. Finally, Buzz saw Claw hiding under a big leaf. "Found you!" said Buzz with a big smile. Claw laughed. "You are good at this game, Buzz!"

Buzz and Claw played all day near the sea. They had so much fun that they didn't even notice the time passing by.

As the sun began to set, Buzz and Claw sat on the sand. "I love playing with you, Claw," said Buzz. "I love playing with you too, Buzz," said Claw. "Let's meet here again tomorrow." And so, Buzz and Claw became best friends by the sea, enjoying every sunny day together.
