Dino-Knitting Adventure

Once upon a time, in a cozy knoll by the forest, lived a dinosaur named Knobby. Knobby loved to knit. Every morning, Knobby would kneel by the riverbank and start knitting a new scarf.

His friends, the kittens, watched with great curiosity. One day, Knobby's friend, known as King Kluck, came to visit. King Kluck had a knack for finding the softest yarn. Together, they knitted the longest blanket the town had ever seen.

The whole town was in awe of their work. They even had a special night to celebrate, under the twinkling stars. Knobby and King Kluck knew their friendship was as strong as the wool they used.
