Snappy Song Contest

One sunny morning, a group of kids decided to have a snappy song contest. Everyone had to bring a song that was funny and long.

They met in a large room, ready to sing along. There was a gong to start each performance, and a trophy for the best song. Sarah sang about a strong kangaroo that jumped all day long. Jimmy's song was about a dragon who loved eating pronghorn. Lilly sang a silly song about a monkey who wore a thong. Max's song featured a penguin with a really loud gong.

Everyone laughed and sang along. In the end, Sarah won because her song was the most strong and funny. They all agreed to have another contest before too long.
