

ANSWERS

direct

The author explicitly suggests what might happen in the story.

indirect

The author gives subtle clues to what might happen in the story.

prophecy

Important events in the plot are told without revealing the details of how it will happen.

symbolism/omen

Minor or seemingly unimportant details in the story are actually hints about what is going to happen.