

ANSWERS

1. No. Ellie's story ends in success, not tragedy. Also, her actions aren't the result of excessive pride, but a desire to simply find her way back to camp.
2. Yes. John is warned not to be overconfident, but he decides to go against all advice in order to show his greatness, and he breaks his legs.