

ANSWERS

1. Every person matters. Although what one person does may not seem to make a difference, what everyone does does make a difference.
2. What people wish for the most isn't always what is best for them and isn't always what will make them happy.
3. A man who thinks he knows everything is not capable of learning.
4. We learn the best through our mistakes.
5. Anyone who is being their authentic selves diverges from "the norm."