

Name _____

The Talking Trees of Arbor Park

Arbor Park was always a peaceful place, known for its lush greenery and tall, majestic trees. But this Arbor Day, something extraordinary happened. As the sun rose over the park, a group of trees near the center suddenly started shaking, their branches rustling with excitement. Then, to everyone's amazement, they began to speak!

Meet the hilarious cast of characters among the talking trees:

- Chucklewood Oak: A wise old oak tree with a deep, rumbling voice. Chucklewood has been in Arbor Park for centuries and has seen it all.
- Giggle Maple: A young and mischievous maple tree who can't help but giggle at every story. She's known for her colorful autumn leaves.
- Laughing Willow: A graceful willow tree with long, drooping branches that sway as she chuckles. She's an expert in observing human emotions.
- Snicker Spruce: A tall and skinny spruce tree with a knack for sarcastic humor. He often pokes fun at the quirky behaviors of humans.
- Guffaw Palm: A tropical palm tree who loves to share humorous tales of tourists at the park, often involving sunscreen mishaps.

The talking trees shared hilarious stories about the humans they've witnessed over the years. Chucklewood Oak began, "Once, I saw a human trying to hug every tree in the park, thinking it would bring them good luck!"

Giggle Maple chimed in, "And remember the time a group of kids had a picnic and a squirrel stole their sandwich right from their hands? Hilarious!"

Laughing Willow shared a heartfelt story, "I watched a young couple get engaged under my branches. They were so nervous that they accidentally dropped the ring in the pond! It took them hours to find it!"

Snicker Spruce couldn't resist adding, "I've seen people do the funniest dances when they spot a squirrel in their path. It's like a squirrel tango!"

Guffaw Palm joined in, "Tourists often fall asleep on my shade, and then they wake up with funny suntan lines on their faces. It's like nature's sunscreen!"

As the day went on, the trees continued to share their stories, making everyone laugh until their sides hurt. Arbor Day had never been so entertaining.

