

Personification

Personification is a type of figurative language that gives human characteristics to something that is not human. In the example below, the tree is being personified:

EXAMPLE: The gleaming apple begged me to eat it.

DIRECTIONS: Choose an object to personify.

my object is: _____

Write down some verbs that describe human actions that could be applied to that object.

Write a sentence that personifies the object. Use one of the verbs that you thought of above. You may add human emotions and characteristics as well. Draw what's happening in your sentence.
