

The New Globe

DIRECTIONS: Read the story. Then put the events in order from 1 to 5.

One day in Social Studies class, Mr. Miller had a new globe on his desk. "This is a very special globe," Mr. Miller told his students. "This globe will teach you a lot." Jack thought that was a silly thing to say. There was nothing special about that globe. To prove it, he snuck into Mr. Miller's classroom during lunch time. He walked up to the globe and stood looking at it for a moment. Then he reached out and started it spinning on its axis. To Jack's surprise, two eyelids on the globe popped open. Then a mouth opened up, then the globe screamed. "Stop! You're making me dizzy!" Mr. Miller is right, Jack thought to himself as he ran out of the room. This globe has taught me to keep my hands to myself!

The globe opens its mouth and screams.

Mr. Miller has a new globe in his classroom.

Jack ran out of the room.

Mr. Miller says the globe will teach his students a lot.

Jack sneaks into Mr. Miller's classroom at lunchtime.