Balloon Song Parade

One bright afternoon, a group of friends prepared for a balloon song parade. Each friend had a big, strong balloon tied to a string.

They marched along the street, singing a happy song. They wore hats and waved as a throng of people cheered them on. Lucy led the parade, playing a song on her guitar. Max brought a big gong to join in the fun.

They danced along, and even a dog joined the parade with a wagging tongue. The parade went on for a long time, and everyone sang along joyfully. When the parade ended, the friends felt happy and strong, ready for another parade next year.
