The Dreamy Tea Party

In a cozy little house, near a leafy green forest, lived a bear named Beary and a rabbit named Sweetie. One sunny day, they decided to have a dreamy tea party.

Beary and Sweetie loved tea parties and always made them special.

Beary made a list of things they needed: tea, bread, peaches, and cream.

Sweetie set the table with a pretty tablecloth and shiny teacups. They worked as a team to prepare everything.

When everything was ready, they sat down to enjoy their treats. Beary poured the tea, and Sweetie placed the bread and peaches on the table. They both spread the cream on their bread. "This is a perfect tea party," Beary said with a big smile.

As they enjoyed their tea party, a gentle breeze blew through the trees. They heard the birds singing sweet songs. "This is a dreamy day," Sweetie said happily.

After the tea party, Beary and Sweetie played games in the yard. They played hide-and-seek and chased butterflies. The dreamy tea party was the best day ever for Beary and Sweetie.
