The Lonely Monster

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. The creature started kind but became angry because of how people treated him, showing that experiences shape who we are.
2. The family could have taken time to understand the creature instead of running away in fear.
3. Some may say Victor was responsible because he created the creature and then abandoned him, while others might say he didn't know what would happen.
4. The story teaches us not to judge others by how they look and to treat all people with kindness.
