

Name _____

Teleporting Tim

Tim was an ordinary boy with an extraordinary power: he could teleport. It all started when he was seven, and he wished to be at his friend's house instantly. With a whoosh, he found himself standing in his friend's living room, much to his surprise and delight.

Every morning, Tim would walk to school, but if he was running late, he could always teleport there in the blink of an eye. His best friend, Walter, was the only person who knew about his secret. They often planned mini-adventures after school, exploring new places in an instant.

One sunny afternoon, Tim and Walter decided to visit the zoo. They teleported to the entrance and spent the day watching the animals. They marveled at the wandering elephants and the swooping birds. Tim loved the otters, while Walter's favorite was the wolverine.

While exploring the reptile house, they found a wriggling snake that seemed interested in them. They whispered about their next destination: the beach. With a wink, Tim teleported them there. The sound of the waves and the smell of salt filled the air. They laughed and played, feeling free as birds.

As the sun set, Tim and Walter teleported back home. Tim's mom was in the kitchen, and he quickly set the table for dinner. He knew he had to keep his power a secret, but sharing these special moments with Walter made it all worthwhile. Tim couldn't wait for their next adventure.

