The Circus Adventure

One bright morning, a girl named Fern went to the circus with her friend Clark. They were excited to see all the animals and performers. The circus tent was huge and colorful.

First, they watched a performer on a tall, wobbly tower. He balanced carefully and did a flip. The crowd cheered loudly. Next, they saw a large bird named Star. Star could talk and do tricks. Fern and Clark were amazed.

After that, they went to see the clever clowns. The clowns juggled and rode tiny cars. Fern laughed so hard that her sides hurt. Clark thought the clowns were very funny too.

Then, they visited the tiger's cage. The tiger had dark fur with black stripes. It roared loudly, but Fern was not scared. She thought the tiger was beautiful. Clark took a picture of the tiger.

Finally, they went to the snack bar. Fern had a corn dog, and Clark had a burger. They sat under a large tree and talked about their favorite parts of the circus. Fern liked the talking bird, and Clark liked the clowns.

As the sun began to set, Fern and Clark went home. They knew they would always remember their fun day at the circus.
