The Bright Flight

On a bright morning, Sarah and her friends decided to take a flight to see a high mountain. They thought it would be a delightful adventure.

Though a bit frightened, they packed enough snacks for the journey. At the airport, they saw a tall man with a slight limp carrying a big bag of doughnuts. Through the airplane window, they caught a glimpse of the mighty mountains.

They shared a light laugh as the plane flew through the clouds. Even though the flight was long, their spirits remained high and bright.
