Dino-Knock Mystery

In a peaceful village, dinosaurs discovered a mystery involving strange knocks. Each night, someone would knock three times on the oldest tree.

Bronto, the village leader, decided to investigate. He asked his friends to kneel behind the bushes and watch.

Stego carried a knapsack with snacks for the long night.

Suddenly, they heard the familiar knocks again. They saw a small dinosaur named Knobby with a tiny hammer.

Knobby was making sure the tree was strong enough for the new treehouse.

Everyone was relieved and laughed at the mystery's solution. From that day, they all helped Knobby with the treehouse.
