Forest Song Quest

One spring morning, a group of kids set off on a forest song quest. They were excited to find the ancient, long-lost song hidden in the forest.

Along the way, they saw a strong tree standing tall and mighty. They sang a cheerful song as they walked along the winding path. A throng of butterflies fluttered around them, adding to the magic of the moment. They came across a frog with a very long tongue, which pointed them in the right direction.

After a long walk, they finally found an old man with a gong. He played the gong, and the ancient song began to play. The kids danced and sang along, feeling happy and strong.
