The Secret Hatch

One day, Ellie and her dog Butch were playing in the backyard. Ellie noticed something shiny near the old shed. She walked over and found a secret hatch hidden under some leaves.

"Look, Butch! What could be inside?" Ellie said. She opened the hatch and found a small box. The box had a latch, and inside it, there was a bunch of colorful patches.

Ellie took the patches and decided to make a quilt. She stitched the patches together while Butch watched. Each patch had a different picture. There was a patch with a cat, a patch with a bird, and even a patch with a kite.

When Ellie finished, she had a beautiful quilt. She showed it to her mom, who was very impressed. "Ellie, this quilt is wonderful!" her mom said. "You did a great job with the patches."

Ellie smiled and hugged her quilt. She was so happy to have found the secret hatch and made something special with the patches.
