Space Dog

Benny the astronaut dog loved exploring new planets. He wore a helmet with a rocket attached, allowing him to float silently through space.

One day, Benny found an interesting artifact buried in the dusty soil of Mars. He knelt down and gently picked it up. The artifact seemed ancient, with intricate patterns etched all over it. Benny felt a slight shiver of excitement as he imagined the stories it could tell. He was certain this discovery was important. Benny's spaceship, the Starry Night, was waiting for him nearby. He decided to bring the artifact back to Earth for further study. As he turned, a light breeze lifted a tuft of Martian sand, making the planet shimmer under the distant sun. Benny knew his next adventure would be even more thrilling.
