

Compare and Contrast

To compare things means to look for things that are the same. To contrast things, you look for things that are different.

DIRECTIONS: Read. Then compare and contrast the dogs.

Morry

Morry is a small, friendly, high-energy dog. He goes everywhere with his person. He wags his tail at everyone he meets. Everybody loves Morry, and Morry loves everybody.

Albert

Albert is enormous. He is also very lazy. He agrees to one walk a day with his person, but after that, he naps. Albert likes to nap sprawled out on the living room floor, and the family has to walk around him and step over him all day. Albert is friendly though. Sometimes he lifts his tail to wag it.
