The Great Ice Cream Mix-Up

Sammy loved Saturdays because it was the day he helped his dad at their family's ice cream shop. One afternoon, Sammy had a great idea. "Dad, what if we make a new flavor?" he asked. His dad chuckled. "What kind of flavor, Sammy?"

Sammy grabbed the closest ingredients: a jar of peanut butter, marshmallows, and rainbow sprinkles. "Let's mix these!" he said, excitedly. Sammy and his dad blended the ingredients into a creamy swirl. They called it "Peanut-Mallow Sprinkle Surprise."

When the first customer, a little girl, tried it, she exclaimed, "This is the BEST ice cream ever!" Soon, the shop was buzzing with people eager to taste Sammy's creation. At the end of the day, Sammy beamed with pride. "I guess Saturdays just got even sweeter!" he said, licking his own cone of Peanut-Mallow Sprinkle Surprise.
