

Name _____

Family Lessons

Short Answer Key

1. Meg first wanted wealth and status, but her family's love showed her that true happiness came from love and kindness.
2. Jo wanted to be independent, which was unusual for women at the time. Her parents encouraged her to follow her dreams.
3. Beth was kind and selfless, finding happiness in simple things, which reflected the love and values she learned at home.
4. Amy learned that success isn't just about wealth but about hard work and passion for what she loved.
5. Their lessons helped the sisters make good choices, stay strong through challenges, and value love over money.

