Beach Day

On a sunny beach, kids clang their pails as they build sandcastles. They sang cheerful songs while the waves bang against the shore.

Each child brought a tangy snack to share during lunch. They hang their wet towels on a line to dry in the warm breeze. One boy found a seashell shaped like a boomerang and showed it to his friends. They played a game where they flung the shell as far as they could.

As the sun began to set, they felt a pang of sadness knowing the day was ending. Before leaving, they thanked the ocean for a wonderful day.
