

Name _____

The Queen's Sweet Treats

Once upon a time, in a faraway land, there was a queen who loved sweet treats. Her name was Queen Bee. Queen Bee had a big, green garden where she grew all kinds of sweet things. She had trees that grew peaches, bushes with sweet berries, and flowers that made honey.

One day, Queen Bee decided to have a big feast. She wanted to share her sweet treats with all her friends. She sent out invitations to everyone in the kingdom. "Come to my garden for a sweet treat feast!" she wrote.

When the day of the feast came, Queen Bee's garden was full of happy people. They ate peaches, berries, and honey. Everyone agreed that Queen Bee's sweet treats were the best they had ever tasted.

The bees buzzed happily around the flowers, and the children played under the trees. Queen Bee was so pleased to see everyone enjoying her garden. It was the sweetest day ever!

