The Magic Garden

One sunny morning, a boy named Deit and his sister Leigh went to play in their garden. They loved their garden because it was full of colorful flowers and tall trees.

That day, they found something strange.

In the middle of the garden, there was a big, bright flower. The flower had petals that shone like the sun. Deit and Leigh decided to take a closer look. As they touched the flower, it began to grow and glow even more.

Suddenly, the flower opened up, and a tiny fairy appeared. "Hello, Deit and Leigh!" said the fairy. "I am the guardian of this magic garden. Because you have found my flower, I will grant you three wishes."

Deit wished for a huge cake with all his favorite flavors. Leigh wished for a rainbow to appear in the sky. For their third wish, they both wished for the garden to stay magical forever.

The fairy waved her wand, and all their wishes came true. They ate the cake, watched the rainbow, and played in their magical garden all day long.
