Fun at the Puddle Party!

Get your rain boots on and grab your umbrellas because it's time for a puddle party! After the rain, the ground is covered in shiny puddles, just waiting for someone to jump in them.

The puddles go "splash" when you step inside, making everyone giggle with delight. Look, there's a puddle shaped like a heart, and over there, one that's as big as a lake! Who knew puddles could be so much fun?

As you splash and play, you might spot some tiny creatures hopping around. Frogs love puddles too, and they hop from one lily pad to another, singing a cheerful song. Ducks waddle over, quacking happily as they join the party. Even the snails come out to slide around on the wet ground. With each jump and splash, the puddle party gets merrier and merrier!
