Knuckle Games

In Dino Valley, dinosaurs loved playing the Dino-Knuckle Games. Each year, they gathered at the knoll to compete.

T-Rex had a knack for the high jump. Triceratops was the fastest in the sack race. One event involved carrying an egg on a spoon without letting it fall. Participants had to kneel at the start line and knock down targets with a ball.

Stego brought a knapsack full of medals for the winners. The crowd cheered as the dinosaurs showed their skills. By the end of the day, everyone received a medal for their efforts. The Dino-Knuckle Games were always a fun and exciting event for all.
