Winter Wonderland Fun

On a chilly winter morning, Stella bundled up in her wool coat. She strolled through the snow-covered hills with her sled.

The air was still and quiet, except for the distant bells from the village. As she walked, she noticed a small, frozen pond where children skated gracefully. Nearby, a family of elk stood watching from the edge of the forest.

Stella knelt down to make a snowball, her fingers feeling the cold, soft snow. She smiled, enjoying the magical, peaceful scene around her.
