Space Zoo

In a space zoo, alien animals clang their metal cages when it's feeding time. The zookeeper, Mr. Lang, has a twang in his voice as he calls out to the creatures.

A group of children sang songs while walking through the exhibits. They hang colorful flags to celebrate the zoo's anniversary. One of the animals, called a Zang, enjoys eating fruit with a tangy flavor. The Zang likes to play with a metal boomerang that Mr. Lang gave it. Sometimes, the Zang will bang on its cage to get attention.

As the tour ended, the kids felt a pang of disappointment because they had to leave. They thanked Mr. Lang for the exciting visit.
