

Name _____

The Right Flight

On a bright afternoon, Mia decided to try a new flight with her kite. She tugged the string tight and watched it rise high.

With a slight breeze, the kite soared to a great height. She smiled with delight as it danced in the sky. Her friends joined, and they all flew their kites with all their might. The sight of colorful kites made the day just right.