Wondrous Winter Walk

In a snowy village, a young boy named Wright went for a winter walk. He wore a warm sweater to ward off the chill.

Wright's favorite part of winter was seeing the new snow cover the ground. Along the way, he saw a wriggly worm peeking out from under the snow. Wright knew it was unusual to see a worm in winter.

As he continued, he heard the sweet song of a wren. The bird's melody made him smile. Suddenly, he noticed a wrinkle in the path, causing him to stumble. Despite the fall, Wright's walk was wonderful, filled with silent winter wonders.
