Wavy Water Park

On a sunny day, a group of friends decided to visit the wavy water park. As they entered, they saw a gigantic, twisty slide that looked very fun. Jenny, who was usually shy, decided to be brave and try it first. The slide was slippery, and she zoomed down with a happy scream.

At the bottom, they found a splashy pool filled with tiny rubber ducks.

Timmy, the clumsy one, accidentally slipped and made a big splash, which made everyone laugh. Next, they saw a floaty river that circled the park. They grabbed some floaty tubes and drifted lazily along the gentle current.

The water park also had a tasty snack bar with crunchy fries and icy lemonade. After munching on their snacks, they spotted a sparkly fountain that sprayed water high into the air. Lucy, who was very curious, noticed a tiny, shiny coin at the bottom of the fountain.

As the day ended, the friends agreed that the wavy water park was the best place for a fun and splashy adventure. They promised to come back next summer for more watery excitement.
