A Day at the Farm with Ray

One sunny day, a boy named Ray went to visit his grandpa's farm. Ray loved the farm and always had fun there.

"Today, you will help me feed the animals," said Grandpa.

Ray was excited. He fed the hay to the cows and watched them munch away. Next, he went to the barn and gave the horses some fresh hay. They neighed happily.

After feeding the animals, Ray decided to play. He saw a little bay by the farm and ran to splash in the water. The sun shone brightly, making the day even more fun.

In the afternoon, Ray and Grandpa picked some hay to make a cozy place to lay down and rest. They talked about their day and watched the clouds in the sky.

When it was time to go home, Ray hugged Grandpa and said, "Thank you for a great day at the farm!"

"You're welcome, Ray. Come back and play another day," said Grandpa with a smile.
