

Name _____

Fiesta Footsteps: A Cinco de Mayo Dance Dream

In the vibrant town of Amigoville, Cinco de Mayo was the most anticipated event of the year. The highlight of the celebration was the annual folk dance performance, and this year, a young and talented dancer named Isabella had her heart set on being the star of the show.

Isabella was known for her graceful moves and quick feet, but there was one obstacle she had to overcome – her fear of performing in front of a large audience. She practiced tirelessly in her backyard, but every time she thought about dancing on the town square stage, her knees turned to jelly.

Isabella's journey to the Cinco de Mayo stage was filled with funny and unforgettable characters. First, there was Senor Tacos, the friendly taco truck owner who became her unofficial dance coach. He encouraged her with delicious tacos and wise words like, "Dance with your heart, and your feet will follow!"

Then there was Don Quixote, the town's clumsy and eccentric windmill repairman. He often stumbled into Isabella's backyard while practicing his balancing act on a unicycle. Although he wasn't the best dancer, his presence brought laughter and inspiration to Isabella's rehearsals.

Isabella's biggest supporter was her abuela, Grandma Rosita, who believed in her talent. Grandma Rosita's cheerful singing and colorful skirts added a touch of tradition to Isabella's dance.

Despite the obstacles and quirky characters, Isabella's determination never wavered. The day of the Cinco de Mayo celebration arrived, and Isabella stood backstage, her heart racing. But she remembered Senor Tacos' words and danced her heart out.

As she twirled, leaped, and spun across the stage, she saw Don Quixote in the crowd, balancing on his unicycle, and heard her abuela's proud cheers. Isabella realized that the audience was not a sea of strangers but a gathering of friends and family, there to support her.

When Isabella's dance ended, the applause was thunderous. She had conquered her fear and dazzled the crowd with her talent. As the sun set over Amigoville, Isabella knew that her Cinco de Mayo dance dream had come true.

