

What Other Characters Say

The things that characters in the story say, think, and feel about each other provide perspectives that help the reader to understand characters better. They may confirm or contradict what the main character (MC) thinks and feels about themselves. For stories written in the first person, the perspectives of other characters may hint at things the protagonist has yet to reveal about themselves.

Main Character: _____

Brainstorm what other characters might think, feel, or say about your MC which can help reveal their personality to the reader.

Other Character	What they think/feel/say about the MC