

ANSWERS

1. they look like sticks as a form of camouflage
2. from half an inch to a foot long
3. If a predator does see past its disguise, some stick bugs fight back by using their long legs to swipe at predators. Some play dead, and some can detach their limbs as a way to escape if they've been caught. Others can let out a stinky smell that makes them seem unappetizing to eat.