

Name _____

Nguzo Saba Around the World

Short Answer Key

1. Indian families promote unity during Diwali by coming together to celebrate the triumph of light over darkness, lighting oil lamps, and decorating their homes with rangoli patterns.
2. "Hatsumode" is a Japanese tradition where people visit shrines or temples to reflect on the past year and set personal goals for the year ahead, emphasizing self-determination.
3. Chinese families symbolize cooperative economics during Chinese New Year by giving and receiving red envelopes containing money as a symbol of shared wealth.
4. The "Shichi-Go-San" festival in Japan aligns with the principle of purpose as children aged three, five, and seven dress in traditional attire and visit shrines to celebrate their growth and set goals for the future.
5. Jewish families express their faith during Hanukkah by lighting the menorah, adding one candle each night for eight nights, symbolizing their faith and dedication to their beliefs.

