Created Alone

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. The novel teaches that people must take responsibility for their actions, especially when creating something new.
2. Some may say Victor was wrong because he did not plan for the consequences, while others may say it was a great scientific discovery.
3. The creature's experience is similar to how people are sometimes judged unfairly for their differences.
4. If I were Victor, I would have taught the creature how to live in society instead of abandoning him.
