Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Answers will vary. Some may say Jacob would have been a better choice because he is warm and human, while others may prefer Edward because of his deep love and devotion.
2. Their differences create tension and excitement, making the story more dramatic and engaging.
3. Some readers may prefer Jacob's easygoing nature, while others may feel Edward's deep love and sacrifice make him the better choice.
4. If Jacob and Edward were friends, the story might have been less dramatic, but it could have focused more on teamwork instead of rivalry.
