

Name _____

The Mystery of Fading Spring Colors

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Possible answers: The kids were motivated by their love for the vibrant colors of Spring and their concern about the environment. They wanted to make a positive impact and restore the beauty of their town.
2. Possible answers: The kids' actions likely inspired their community to be more aware of pollution and the importance of protecting the environment. They demonstrated that even kids can make a difference.
3. Possible answers: Protecting and preserving Springtime colors and the natural environment is important because it contributes to the beauty of our surroundings, helps maintain a healthy ecosystem, and ensures a better quality of life for future generations.
4. Possible answers: Individuals and communities can help by reducing waste, recycling, conserving energy, planting trees, participating in clean-up events, and advocating for environmental protection policies.

