

ANSWERS MAY VARY

Theme Statement: Complete equality within a society is not possible.

People in the society are unequal in their unassigned handicaps.

People without handicaps are jealous of people who have to be handicapped (Hazel is jealous of her husband).

Some things cannot be handicapped (the ballerina's voice).

Harrison Bergeron breaks free of his handicaps.