Power Struggles

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Some students might argue that the Warden was the worst because she was in charge, while others might say Mr. Sir and Mr. Pendanski were just as bad because they followed her orders.
2. The boys at Camp Green Lake mostly accept their treatment at first, but later, Stanley and Zero fight back and escape.
3. Students may share different ideas, such as standing up for themselves, escaping, or finding ways to survive until they could leave.
4. Sachar may be showing that power is often abused, and not all authority figures are fair. The story encourages readers to question unfair treatment.
