

Name _____

Casey and the Robot Helper

Casey loved inventing things in the garage. One day, she decided to build a robot helper. "You'll help me clean my room," Casey said as she tightened the last screw. She pressed a button, and the robot whirred to life.

"Cleaning mode activated!" the robot beeped.

It zoomed into Casey's room and started picking up socks, toys, and books. But soon, the robot got a little too excited. It began stacking everything—even Casey's pillow and her favorite teddy bear! "Wait, Robot!" Casey giggled. "You don't have to clean EVERYTHING!"

Casey pressed the "Pause" button and carefully removed her teddy. "I think we need to adjust your settings," she said with a laugh. By the end of the day, Casey's room was spotless, and her robot had become her new favorite invention.

Questions

1. What did Casey build in the garage?
2. What was the robot's first task?
3. What did the robot try to clean that made Casey laugh?
4. How did Casey feel about her robot at the end of the story?

