

ANSWERS

Raw Emotional Appeal
(pride, distrust, patriotism)

Direct appeal to strong emotions such as pity, fear, anger, or patriotism

Plain Folks

(everyday working people)

Presenting oneself as "a regular person"

Logical Fallacy

(everyone who is idle does NOT work for Hitler)

Reasoning that seems logical on the surface but actually isn't

Appeals to Identity

(American, hardworking)

Arguments based on group mentality; arguments that claim to represent the whole group