

Name _____

Unite for the Sacred Land

Short Answer Key

1. The main goal of the tribes when they decided to collaborate was to prevent the weakening dam downstream from causing an environmental disaster that could harm their sacred land.
2. The tribes' shared responsibility for the land changed their relationship by helping them realize that their common love for the land was more significant than their historical feud. They became allies, understanding that their unity was stronger than their division.
3. The Eagle Clan and the Bear Clan shared specific knowledge and skills related to their respective clans' traditions, stories, and wisdom. For example, the Eagle Clan shared their knowledge of eagles, while the Bear Clan introduced the secrets of navigating the forest.
4. Spirit Lake and the surrounding forests were considered sacred because they held the spirits of their ancestors and played a central role in their cultural and spiritual beliefs. These natural elements were a source of identity, tradition, and connection to their heritage.
5. The story conveys the message that unity and shared responsibility are powerful forces that can overcome differences and protect the environment. It emphasizes the importance of collaboration in addressing environmental challenges and preserving cultural heritage.

