Love and Power

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Some may argue that Edward is right because he wants to protect Bella, while others may believe she should make her own choices, even if they are risky.
2. Protection can sometimes create an imbalance in relationships if one person always has control over decisions.
3. If Bella had supernatural abilities, she and Edward might have a more equal relationship, where she would not need as much protection.
4. Healthy relationships should have trust, communication, and equality, where both people have a say in important decisions.
