

Name _____

Unbreakable Bonds

Short Answer Key

1. Harry's friendship with Ron and Hermione helped him because they worked together to solve problems, protect each other, and stop the Sorcerer's Stone from being stolen.
2. Ron's knowledge of chess helped because he played a life-sized wizard chess game, allowing them to move forward.
3. Hermione's intelligence helped the group because she solved a potion puzzle that allowed Harry to move ahead.
4. Ron's family made Harry feel at home by welcoming him, treating him like family, and giving him a place to belong.
5. Friendship is important in difficult times because friends support each other and help solve problems, just like Harry, Ron, and Hermione did.
