Monstrous Halloween Feast

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Mr. Peterson's clumsiness led to carving a pumpkin, Lily used her delicate touch for decorations, Max added a touch of mischief, and Mrs. Peterson's magic helped repair decorations and create a new feast menu. Each family member played a unique role in preparing for Halloween.
2. The Petersons changed their menu to make it less intimidating to their human neighbors and ensure that they could celebrate Halloween together. This change benefited them by fostering a sense of community and acceptance among both monsters and humans.
3. The Petersons' celebration showed that people (or monsters) from different backgrounds or appearances can come together, share traditions, and embrace their unique qualities without fear or prejudice.
4. Answers may vary, but they could have organized fun activities, games, or costume contests that encouraged everyone to participate, regardless of their backgrounds or appearances.
