Sammy's Space Adventure

Sammy was a little boy who loved to look at the stars. One night, he saw a big, shiny spaceship in his backyard. The door of the spaceship opened, and a friendly alien named Zog came out.

"Hello, Sammy! Would you like to go on an adventure?" asked Zog.

"Yes, please!" said Sammy. He climbed into the spaceship. Zog pressed a big red button, and they zoomed into space.

They saw many stars and planets. Sammy pointed and said, "Look, there is the moon!" Zog smiled and said, "We can go there."

When they got to the moon, Sammy saw it was very bumpy. He jumped high in the air and said, "I can fly!" Zog laughed and said, "On the moon, you can jump very high."

Next, they went to a red planet. It was very hot. Sammy saw a river of red lava. "Wow, this place is amazing," said Sammy.

After that, they visited a blue planet with lots of water. Sammy saw fish that could talk. They said, "Hello, Sammy! Welcome to our home."

Soon, it was time to go home. Zog and Sammy got back into the spaceship. Zog pressed the red button again, and they flew back to Sammy's backyard.

"Thank you, Zog! I had so much fun," said Sammy.

"You are welcome, Sammy. Come back anytime," said Zog.

Sammy waved goodbye as the spaceship flew away. He could not wait to tell his friends about his space adventure.
