The ball swooshed through the net.

"How are you supposed to play basketball in that wheelchair?" one of the boys asked.

"Watch me!" Clark said.

Clark wheeled over to them and asked if he could play.

So Clark joined the game, and he was the fastest player on wheels!

He took the ball from the other boy's hands, dribbled it down the court, and took a shot.

"Okay," the kids said. "We will give you a chance."

One day, some of the kids in the neighborhood were outside playing basketball after school.
